All Records Broken at R2K Reunion

Ninety nine degrees in the shade, 100% humidity, hanging out in the Shack, playing House Games, lounging pool-side, dancing in the Teen Club 'till dawn. One night in Bangkok? No, the 2000 R2K Royally Connected Reunion in Williamsburg, VA. For three days in August more than 500 ISB alumni, and family members/friends gathered together to find old friends and meet new ones, share memories, build lifelong bonds, and just hangout and have fun. Spanning 40 years of ISB history – from the class of '57 to 1997 - the hotel was abuzz with laughter, conversation and song, 24-hours a day.

R2K broke the record for more than attendance - we had the largest number of volunteers in the 15-year history of the Network. Helping run everything from registration, to House Games, to selling merchandise in the Shack, this year's volunteer brigade made it possible for the reunion to be such a success.

Other reunion firsts included the "Shack Merhantile" reporting record sales, sporting new items such as books, embroidered clothing, music and jewelry. Thursday night's Thai dinner used two buses and a tent to handle the overflow, in successfully feeding some 200 people. House Game participation reached well over 100 people, and not one but TWO bands performed on Saturday night.

If you were there, you know what a success R2K was. For those of you unable to attend, don't miss Reunion 2002, or you'll be sorry!

The Board and entire ISB Network thanks each and everyone of you who volunteered, who attended, and who encouraged fellow alumni to attend – together, we made this reunion special – we definitely got Royally Connected!

President's Message

Maile McCoskerie Busby-Lindley '67

What a GREAT reunion! The recap tells all of the details; and while each of us has our own stories to share, indulge me a moment as I share one of mine with you.

I took the position as Network President at the 1998 reunion, at a time in my life when I was looking for activities to fill my days. It took me almost a year to get real clear on the responsibilities involved and the computer skills necessary to get the job done. I couldn't have done it without the support of my fellow board members. Knowing that we have an opportunity to "step back in time" every two years to be with those who many of us thought were lost to us forever when we left Bangkok – that was what motivated me to keep going.

I spent Thursday working with many I had never met before getting ready for registration. By Thursday late afternoon we were as ready as we were going to be. It was my pleasure to get to greet just about everyone as they picked up their registration material. Some were joining us for the first time and the excitement and anticipation was easy to recognize – others had been with us in the past and knew already what a special time was in store for them. I can still remember looking up and seeing Mike Clayton '67 all the way from Sydney, Australia, David Radcliff '67, and Bubbles '68. This was the first I had seen them since I had left in '67 and I too got to experience the wonder of again seeing some long lost friends.

Already, we are looking for a location for our next ISB Network Reunion during the summer of 2002. As we all continue to work together to find other lost classmates the event can only grow and grow and that is the challenge that we will work with. The more the better! I look forward to again greeting everyone as they register – what a joy that was for me!

ISB Network Honors Individuals with the First Hall of Fame Award

Mimi Drake Parks and Mrs. Betty Yugala were awarded the Network's highest honor for their exceptional contributions to the ISB Network -- induction into the ISB Network Hall of Fame. David Wilkerson, ISB Network Chairman, presented the women with crystal panthers, symbolizing their tireless dedication to the mission of the ISB Network at the R2K reunion in Williamsburg, Virginia.

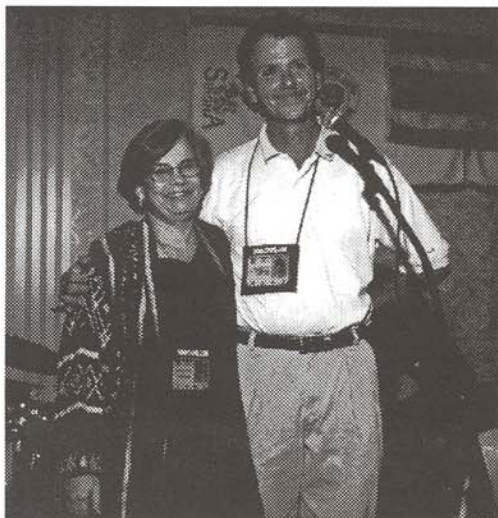

This is the first year Hall of Fame awards were presented. "These awards are not given lightly, they're a way to thank very special people for their extraordinary contributions to the Network" said David Wilkerson, former President of the Board of Directors. "The Board and I couldn't think of two more deserving people to be inducted than Mimi and Betty."

Mimi Drake Parks '73 was recognized during the Saturday ceremonies for her vision of starting the Network, and her boundless energy and determined enthusiasm in taking the Network from a list of phone numbers on a sheet of paper to a life enhancing event attended by more than 500 alumni, friends and family.

Tony "The Prez" Grady '73 accepted the award on Mimi's behalf as she was unable to attend. He reflected on many fond stories dating back to Mimi's days at ISB as an early mover and shaker for her class, and for her outstanding achievement with the Network.

Mrs. Betty Yugala (ISB faculty 1977-99) was presented the award for her 33 years of service as a teacher, mentor and friend to ISB alumni. Mrs. Yugala's dedication as a teacher has spanned three generations, where she touched the lives of hundreds of ISB students.

Standing before a cheering crowd, Mrs. Yugala was nearly speechless when she accepted her award. "I am so overwhelmed by this honor", said a very surprised Mrs. Yugala. "The students at ISB over the years have enriched my life so wonderfully that words cannot express my feelings."

The Class of '72 Starts Finders - Keeper

submitted by Sandi Mendenhall '72

While the ISB Network has done a fantastic job of locating classmates, the class of 1972 has launched a project called Finders-Keepers. We are actively searching for those that have not been contacted yet. The ISB Network mailing list has been a great resource for us. If all of the 163 members of the class of 1972 that are listed on the mailing list participate, it is believed that most of the missing class members could be accounted for. If you have an address or email or even just some rumors of where someone from the class of 1972 is, please send this info to me, the coordinator of the Finders-Keepers project, Sandi Mendenhall, at skm123@micron.net.

Think about who your buddies were when you attended ISB. If you have their addresses, I suggest that you send them to your class reps. Let's find everyone and give them a chance to become a member and attend our reunions. Just think if all we did was each find just one person a year from our own class. Imagine what can happen over time.

Special Offer: ISB Network tote bag, xl or xxl R2K (limited edition) T-shirt, Hat/lapel pin, glass coffee or Singha mug (your choice – specify), cold drink huggie, license plate frame and vanity plate. This is a $50.00 value and can be yours for just $40.00 (and that includes shipping) - the stocking will be filled!

A GREAT HOLIDAY GIFT IDEA!

How Come We Were Dancing at 2:15 AM?

John Dammon '69

I went to the San Antonio and Seattle reunions and had a good time seeing old friends, but felt there was something missing. In 1993 I attended the ISB board meeting and suggested that perhaps the DJ's we were hiring weren't quite doing justice to the music that had meant so much to us during the Bangkok experience. People just seemed to wander off after the Saturday night dinner was over and no one stayed to dance. I agreed to try to locate some ex-Bangkok band members and form a band to perform two sets at the Clearwater, Florida reunion in August 1994 if Dave Wilkerson would agree to arrange for the equipment.

I had played bass with several bands while in Bangkok, and my wife, Babette, had sung with the Young Internationals while at ISB. It was a beginning but I had a long way to go to get a band together.

I heard that Kevin Farenholtz, '69, now lived in Maryland and I was very delighted to find out that he had kept playing the guitar and singing. I was really impressed to find out how much his voice and guitar playing had developed over the years. I knew I had to buy a bass quickly and get practicing.

I was hoping to get in touch with band mate Steve Rogers, '68, from the "March Happenings" but found out he was in Hawaii. Fortunately, his sister Terry Rogers, '72, was located only 40 minutes away in Columbia, Maryland and had played organ in Bangkok. When asked if she was interested, she replied, "I'd love to but I haven't touched a keyboard in 20 years". I said "That's OK, I haven't even seen a bass guitar in 25 years."

A couple of weeks later I heard that Keith Hatton, '70, had been located in Fredrick, Maryland. Remembering the great times we had together performing with the "Erbs of Love" during the 1968/69 school year, I was so glad when he agreed to join the band as lead guitarist. He also admitted that he hadn't touched a guitar in a number of years but had been playing classical piano. I informed him, "No problem, you are ahead of me!"

Keith mentioned that his wife, Peggi, could sing and would be willing to do some backup vocals if we needed them. Keith and Peggie had met while attending Penn State and were married in 1975. From the first time Peggi came to practice, we realized what a great addition she would be to the band and the music.

Although Peggi never attended ISB, she has become an honorary alumnus over the years.

Now the big problem...a drummer! I thought our problems were over when I called an ex-drummer alumni located in Maryland. Unfortunately, he was unavailable at the time so we continued to practice for a few months with no drummer. With a little research into the current computer technologies related to music, we decided to use our PCs and a little "Midi magic" as our drummer so that we could practice.

I contacted Mike Jepsen '70 (also an ex 'Erbs of Love' member) who had been playing professionally since high school. To my surprise he was excited about the idea of playing with a bunch of amateurs at the next reunion a few months away. Since he lived in Utah, we sent him a couple of cassettes with the 2 sets of songs on them and asked him to show up at the reunion a day early so we could practice.

Consistent with maintaining a drummer's reputation, Mike showed up 6 hours late with a half packed suitcase and informed us that he had lost the cassettes but found a whole bunch of Singha downstairs. This was obvious! We decided to have a practice in the hotel room with a couple of little 15 watt amps and Mike's knees as drums. It went pretty well but most of us were still a little skeptical of what we had agreed to do.

The next day we set up the equipment and had a real practice. It was amazing how much better we sounded with a real drummer...and what a drummer Mike turned out to be! We quickly realized that Mike could play better than any drummer we had ever met. Immediately after practice Mike pulled me aside and said "John, Babette and Peggi can really sing!". My first reaction was to respond with the typical French phrase "but of course, you idiot" but instead inquired "what do you mean?". Mike responded, "I've learned over the years, John, to be somewhat cautious when people say 'the wives are gonna sing with the band'".

When Saturday night came, we were all extremely nervous. This was the first time we would be playing for our friends and fellow alumnae. We only hoped that they would enjoy the music and that we would play well enough that they wouldn't boo us off the stage. But after the first few songs, the dance floor was packed. What a rush it was seeing everyone having such a great time! We played two sets and the dance floor was just as full for the last song as it had been at the beginning. The hard work had paid off and we were elated.

We agreed to play at the Dallas reunion. We doubled our song list to provide a full four sets. None of us had any idea how difficult this would be at our age. I remember the high school band routine where one of the members would bring a reel-to-reel tape of a "brand new song from the States". We would listen to it, figure out the chords, some of the breaks (usually modifying them to match our limited talent, uh, I mean "style") and try to figure out the words.

While we tried to practice every two weeks, this was not as easy as it was in high school when you were single and only had to worry about being as cool as possible. We now had day jobs, children, vacations, church activities, school activities, family obligations and homes, automobiles, boats, tractors (Keith and Peggi live in Fredrick) airplanes and a whole host of other material objects to keep up.

In any event, we learned a number of valuable lessons with regards to the Dallas performance: 1) Four sets is too much for a band that doesn't play very often 2) practices can feel a lot like work when you have that many songs to cover and 3) when you are our age, you can't always remember all newly acquired valuable lessons.

Due to the complex logistics involved and the need for a break, the band decided not to play at the 1998 reunion in California. Time seemed to fly by and all of a sudden it was late 1999 and we decided to start practicing for the Williamsburg reunion.

Williamsburg was a lot of fun for us. We were nervous since we hadn't played for four years. Also because we had decided to use our own equipment and do the sound ourselves. (Gotta use all those toys we bought over the years.) Again, we discovered that we are just too old to be hauling all that equipment around – where are the roadies when you need them? But the playing and singing itself was almost as amazing as it had been in Clearwater (of course, nothing can beat the first time). It is so much fun looking out at the dance floor and seeing people having a great time. All the hard work is definitely worthwhile! A special treat for me was being able to see the Sonics perform again. I remember dancing to their great music the first year I arrived in Bangkok. My dream was to someday play in a band half as good.

All in all, we feel extremely fortunate to have been able to play music with the intent it was created for: to enjoy performing with friends and provide enjoyment to people who mean so much to us. It has taken me years to finally understand what Mike meant when he said that he had more fun playing at the reunion in Clearwater than any other gig in his life. Considering he had played literally thousands of gigs over many years as a professional musician, I thought he was just being nice. No, I can see now that there is big difference between playing for a crowd of drunks and playing for a bunch of extremely 'happy' and supportive friends. I can't thank the ISB Network and the wonderful people who selflessly support it with hours and hours of work. My special thanks goes to the members of the band who have spent so much time and effort to make it possible! John Dammon '69

Saamlor* Band members: Keith '70 and Peggi Hatton (three sons 12, 19 & 23), Mike '70 and Terry Rogers '72 Jepsen (daughter 13, & 2 sons 6, 11), Babette Trout '72 and John Dammon '69 (2 daughters 9, 20, & son 15)

*I realize it stands for 3 wheels and we risk being called tuk tuk by the younger generation but we were told there is no Thai word for couple.

What About Those Sonics?

If you were lucky enough to be in Williamsburg you were also treated to the long lost sounds of the mid-60's Sonics with a couple of substitutions. The following will give you an idea of where they are now and what they have been doing since they left Bangkok.

Don Washburn, lead guitar, graduated and left Bangkok in 1966. He is married to Linda and they have two children, Jeff and Jenny. They live in Miami, FL.

Chris Curtis, drummer, left Bangkok in 1966 after finishing his junior year. He is married to Viola and they live in Alexandria, VA. They have one son.

Carl Layton, rhythm guitar, graduated and left Bangkok in 1967. He has just recently married Didi and moved to New York City after living in San Francisco for 22 years.

Kip Schaaf, bass guitar, graduated and left Bangkok in 1965. Not originally with the Sonics; this was the first time he has played with the band. He is an airline pilot for Southwest and lives in Richmond, CA (San Francisco bay area).

Jeff Washburn, son of Don, joined with his dad on stage as a guitarist too. He is currently a freshman in college and in addition to being a fabulous guitarist is also an excellent artist.

Missing from the group was Kenny Warren '67 just located in the Houston, Texas area, and Roger Brady who joined us at our reunion in San Antonio, TX in 1990. Sadly, Roger was killed in car accident the following year.

Missed but Never Forgotten

Col. Fred Barringer, age 75 passed away on August 13, 2000 losing a two year battle with Non Hodgkins Lymphoma. Col. Barringer loved the ISB Network and all it stood for. He and his wife, Elaine, attended the 1994 Clearwater reunion and Col. Barringer participated in the House Games Golf Tournament winning the award for the longest drive. Former Secretary of the ISB Network, Lynn Barringer, said that her father lived long enough to hear about the 2000 Williamsburg reunion and was very proud of the Network and the record breaking attendance. Col Barringer received a full military service at Arlington National Cemetery in September. The ISB Network extends it's deepest sympathy to his wife, Elaine Barringer, and children Sarah Lynn Barringer '68, Fred Barringer '70, Leslie Barringer Ellis '74, Tom Barringer '78, and Dave Barringer '78. Col. Barringer you will be sorely missed but never forgotten.

In Memory of...

Submitted by her sons

Lois Crittenden, the mother of ISB alums Simon (1974), Peter (1977), Jules (1978) and Will (departed ISB 1978), died Sept. 28, 2000, in Elizabeth City, NC, after a brief illness. She was 76.

A native of Melbourne, Australia, she raised her four boys in Indonesia, Australia, California, East Pakistan and Thailand, where her husband worked as an engineer. Along the way she had to deal with her children's cases of hepatitis, dengue and scarlet fever; periodic cholera scares, weekly forced doses of malaria pills and the occasional rabies series; cyclones and floods; several military coups and riots; infestations of cobras, pit vipers, banded kraits, pythons, kamoys, and of course cockroaches the size of hamsters. She saw to it that her boys were exposed to the art, culture, language and historic places of the countries they lived in, as well as the best of western history, literature and culture. When they were older, she was good enough to let her boys loose to travel the Thai countryside on their own, for all of which they remain grateful.

At ISB, Mrs. Crittenden briefly taught remedial classes in the 1970s. She also volunteered as a guide and librarian at the National Museum in the 1970s, and taught at an English-language kindergarten in the 1980s. She also was a long-time member of the Royal Varuna Yacht Club at Pattaya, and a devotee of sunsets over Koh Larn. She recalled her 13 years in Thailand as the best of her life. We were glad she was independent and lived as she chose until her last days

Help Wanted

The ISB Network is currently looking for two computer literate volunteers to contribute to the Network and become Board of Directors members – Newsletter Director and Class Reps.

Newsletter Director - We need one volunteer to take over the editorial and publication duties of the ISB Network newsletter. We have a staff of contributing editors and writers, and we need someone to manage the process. The Network publishes 3 issues per year - early Fall, end of March and mid-June. You would also be responsible for a Network-wide postcard mailing in late Fall 2001. All printing and mailing is done in California, you will not need to get anything past camera-ready, and all costs are covered by the ISB Network, you need only to supply the computer.

Class Reps/Coordinators – The front line (foot soldiers) of the ISB Network are the Class Reps and the Class Coordinators.

Class Reps: The class rep is a volunteer position. The Class Rep must be a member of the ISB Network in good standing. Each graduating class may have any number of class reps (larger classes usually have more reps). The function of the class rep is to act as a liaison with members of their class year, while actively finding missing alumni and encouraging them to join the ISB Network.

Class Coordinators: The class coordinator is an appointed position. The class coordinator shall be a member of the ISB Network in good standing. Each class coordinator represents 5 graduating classes as follows: 60-64, 65-69, 70-74 etc. There shall be a minimum of 2 class coordinators per 5 year period.

The satisfaction of being part of the team that keeps this group together is immeasurable. Please call or email Maile 949.673.4632 (mailebusby@msn.com) or Dave 615.242.2925 (isbalumdaw@aol.com) if you are interested in being a part of this effort. We would like a commitment of at least through the next reunion in 2002 even longer would be better.
